YouCanDealWithIt.com - A Financial Literacy Initiative	Come join us as we go through our free website offered through PHEAA that can assist your students with planning, budgeting and managing their debt. This site can also assist schools with counseling their students on some important topics related to financial literacy.	PHEAA	10/5/17	11:00 AM	http://www.myfedloan.org/register
Calculating, Creating and Uploading Non-SSN GPA's	Overview on how to calculate, create and upload GPA's for your students.	CSAC	10/5/17	2:00 PM	https://events-na12.adobeconnect.com/content/connect/c1/1377825884/en/events/catalog.html
Transitioning from Grace to Repayment: Maximize the Opportunity	During their grace period, students should plan for successful repayment. You can help maximize this planning period through strategic outreach and communication. During this session, we will show you how Great Lakes communicates with borrowers during grace, review the various repayment options available to students, and share ideas for outreach efforts that you can implement at your institution. Protecting Your Students' Data	Your ability to keep your students' sensitive data (both online and on paper) secure is more critical than ever. A data breach results in reputational and financial consequences; and it could lead to identity theft and fraudulent activity. Security preparedness is not only a key to understanding the constant threats in the environment but also a regulatory requirement. In this webinar, we will discuss the most common pitfalls of data security and how to mitigate the risks, the ED guidance for what you are responsible to maintain, as well as Inceptia's data security protocol. FERPA: Interpreting the Intricacies	Protecting student privacy is paramount. Understand what needs to be included in your school's Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) policy and gain a working knowledge of how to ensure FERPA privacy requirements are met in real-world scenarios. Consider this course not just an introduction to the basics of FERPA, but also an in-depth guide to understanding the rights of students and their parents regarding student education records. The materials presented have been vetted by our privacy specialists to ensure that you get the most accurate and comprehensive	GLHEC	10/11/17	12:00 PM	https://schools.mygreatlakes.org/web/FAP/training/findAvailableEvents?selecte d=training&navMenuItemSelected=hoz. findEvent
Loan Rehabilitation: A Second Chance for Borrowers	The consequences of student loan default can be devastating to your borrowers. When borrowers default they lose their Title IV eligibility, damage their credit, risk having their tax refunds and other benefits withheld, and face the possibility of wage garnishment and legal action. Fortunately, borrowers have a chance for a refresh start—loan rehabilitation. We will discuss the details of loan rehabilitation and what you can do to educate your students. MINDFULNESS: Strategies for Slowing Down and Living in the Moment	In this busy world, our minds are constantly pulled in multiple directions. We have overbooked calendars and compound deadlines— leaving us feeling tired and stressed. While you may not be able to change the volume of responsibilities you have, you can change how you approach each day so that you're living in the moment and generating energy—not expending it. Join Tasha McDaniel, Great Lakes Trainer and Certified Wellness Coach, to learn how to implement MINDFULNESS strategies into your daily routine. College Cost Meter™: Introducing a Student Debt Letter for Oregon Schools	Are you concerned about implementing Oregon's recently passed student debt letter legislation? Enactment is required starting with the 2018-2019 academic year. Great Lakes has an easy-to-use and affordable solution to help you comply. College Cost Meter™ is a versatile tool that produces the correspondence to meet the requirements of the new law. When students receive indebtedness insight they have been known to borrow more conservatively, adjust their major, improve class selection, and graduate more quickly. Join us to learn more about this easy-to-use and cost effective tool. Promoting Autonomy in a World of Over-Parenting	How much is too much? When is a parent helping excessively for their college age child? Colleges, and specifically financial aid administrators, can create a culture of autonomy to help students become more resilient, self-confident, and independent? In this session we will explore the impact of over-parenting on college campuses, offer guidance on finding a balance between respecting a parent's need to be involved, and supporting a student's right to grow up and provide examples of what some schools are doing to address helicopter parenting problems before they occur. Teaching the Teacher: What Students Need to Know about Their Finances	Your students have arrived on campus not knowing how to budget, how credit cards work, or the impact of interest. You want to educate them but where do you begin? Instead of starting from scratch, we will provide you with what your students need to know about their finances. Presented by accredited financial counselors, this session is designed to teach the teacher so that you can create and tailor your own financial literacy program. We will also include activities to incorporate so that you can provide a complete learning experience.
